Faiths Together Conference

Monday 7 April 2008

University of Surrey, Guildford

9.30am to 4pm

Faiths Together

Conference

The 2008 SEEFF Conference 'Faiths Together' is to take place on Monday 7 April at the University of Surrey in Guildford. This very important event will be opened by the Bishop of Guildford – Bishop Christopher.

The Conference will address several key areas concerning the faith communities and is particularly relevant to individuals within South Eastern faith communities and projects.

Key speakers will include:

Morning:

John Scott

Deputy Regional Director, GOSE

Harriet Crabtree

Director, Interfaith Network

John Devine

North West Churches Officer for the Region

Afternoon:

Canon Guy Wilkinson

Archbishop of Canterbury's Interfaith Advisor

Imam Abdul Jalil Sajid

Muslim Council for Religious & Racial Harmony UK

Alex Goldberg

Jewish Chaplain – University of Surrey

The 2008 SEEFF Conference – 'Faiths Together' – is the first since the London event in 2005. It is essential that membership of the interfaith forum is now renewed for networking, governance and best practice. This free Conference is most appropriate to faith leaders, key individuals from faith communities and faith based projects across the South East region.

The 'Faiths Together' Conference will highlight the role a regional faith forum plays in providing a voice for faith communities, partnership and networking. Facilitated workshops during the day will discuss governance structure proposals for SEEFF*

During the day, guests will be invited to make their choice on the relaunch of the SEEFF identity.
